HIGH SCHOOLS DISTRICT 78

ACADEMIC-COMPREHENSIVE HIGH SCHOOLS

VOCATIONAL-TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOLS

INDEPENDENT ALTERNATIVE HIGH SCHOOLS

SOME NOTES ON THE HIGH SCHOOL PROFILES

1. Academic/Comprehensive high schools provide a broad range of educational opportunities for students who are preparing for college or careers upon graduation. Although the students must meet the requirements for the high school diploma, they can choose courses from a wide variety of elective offerings under many departments and special programs. This allows for flexibility in programming, and a personalized selection of courses to meet individual needs and abilities. All Academic/Comprehensive high schools make provision for intellectually gifted pupils.

Vocational/Technical high schools combine training in approximately 70 skilled trades with a general secondary education. Courses are available which prepare for entrance into the world of work upon graduation, while other programs are geared to higher education and training beyond high school.

Independent/Alternative high schools operate as small units independent of the large conventional high schools. These schools offer a special service which is needed by a limited number of students over a broad area of the city and they seek out a student body which has not been reached otherwise. Most of the curricula emphasize acquisition of skills in reading and mathematics, and the basic high school subjects, with innovations in course offerings. Offsite experiential learning is a component of most programs. Most students prepare to earn the New York City High School Diploma. Others prepare to qualify for the New York State High School Equivalency Diploma.

2. The senior high school per capita cost data in these profiles are influenced by fundamental differences in the resource allocation patterns of the high schools and those of the other levels (elementary, intermediate and junior high schools). Almost all elementary, intermediate and junior high school pupils have the same length instructional day. In the high schools, however, the number of instructional periods may vary with the needs and program elections of individual students. Their choices reflect their maturity, special interests and future plans. Since high school pupils are programmed for prescribed basic subjects (e.g., mathematics, English, physical education, social studies, etc.), remedial programs and, in addition, for electives chosen by the students from offerings, such as trade shops, advanced placement, business subjects, art, music, etc., budgeted resources are allocated to meet these variations in instructional needs.

3. Although resources are allocated to all schools according to the same formula, some significant per capita variations may be caused by:

- Size of School — Small schools (e.g., Food Trades, August Martin) and new schools with less than their full projected organizations (e.g., Martin L. King, Edward R. Murrow) have a higher per capita cost than larger schools because their support services (principal, assistant principals, school secretaries, stockman, etc.) are being apportioned among a smaller number of students. In the case of annexes, the duplication of overhead costs raises the per capita costs of the total school organization.
- Average Daily Attendance — Since the High School Division allocation formula includes an attendance factor, the average daily attendance has an effect on per capita costs. Consequently, schools with a lower average daily attendance this year (e.g., Benjamin Franklin, DeWitt Clinton, John Jay) show lower average per capita costs than would comparable schools with higher daily attendance. Because resources are not allocated for long-term absentees who must be carried in the schools' enrollments, dividing dollars by gross register results in the understatement of true per capita costs. To illustrate, by adjusting only for pupils who were absent every school day for attendance periods 1 and 2, the per capita costs at the aforementioned schools change as follows: Benjamin Franklin to $1182 from $948; DeWitt Clinton to $1101 from $1017; John Jay to $1058 from $939.

- Average Number of Subjects — Schools vary in the average number of subject periods taken by each student. Where students on the average elect more subject periods, additional staff allowances are needed. This more liberal allowance increases the per capita costs. In those schools where pupils on the average carry fewer subject periods, fewer teachers are allotted and the result is a lower per capita cost.
- Subject Area Distribution of Classes — The proportion of pupil-periods of instruction in subject area categories affects per capita costs. Contractual class size maximums and safety considerations require different staffing allocations. This contributes significantly to higher per capita costs in schools where trade shops are concentrated (vocational and comprehensive high schools) because trade shops are limited to a maximum class size of 28. In contrast, other classes legally can be organized with greater maximum size classes (34 in regular classes, 50 in physical education, etc.).
- Longevity — The cost data for individual schools is affected by staff longevity. Although High School Division resources are allocated to schools on a staff unit basis (average salary of a teacher), costs reflect actual expenditures. Teacher average salary rates differ from school to school. Thus schools with higher average teacher salary rates would generally have higher per capita costs.

4. Unit Allocation Procedure for the High Schools

The 1974-1975 school year marks the second year of unit allocations to the high schools. This method of allocation provides tax levy personal service allotments in staff units rather than in specific positions and responds to suggestions made by the Citizens Budget Commission for a more effective use of pedagogic resources.

All tax levy funds available for direct allocation to schools are equated to staff units. This is done by first dividing the total teacher dollars by teacher positions to arrive at a budgeted teacher salary average which is given an index of 1.0. This staff unit value (teacher average salary) then is divided into the total dollars to be allocated to the schools to determine the total units available for formula application.

Average budgeted salaries also are developed for all pedagogic and administrative personnel. These average salaries are given an index value in relationship to the 1.0 for teachers. Positions, such as school secretary, which have average salaries less than those of a teacher are indexed below 1.0. Positions, such as guidance counselor, which have average salaries higher than those of teachers, are indexed above 1.0. Schools are given their allocations in units and then convert these units into scheduled positions.

Under the unit allocation procedure, principals are encouraged to convert units into positions appropriate to the tasks to be performed. Principals receive a list giving titles and weighted unit values together with statements of job requirements of various professional and civil service positions. In this second year, many tax levy paraprofessionals (such as family workers, teacher aides) and civil service personnel (such as Audio-Visual Aide and Industrial Arts Technicians) were added to high school staffs due to free use by principals of their unit allotments. In addition, principals scheduled professional positions as on-site judgment determined.

The allocation formula described below refers only to funds derived from tax levy. Additional allotments are provided through reimbursable programs financed through state and federal funds.

DESCRIPTION OF FORMULA

The formula for distributing units to specific regular high schools is in four parts:

1. BASIC SUPPORT SERVICES

This segment of the formula provides a constant 20 units for minimum services common to all high schools regardless of size. In addition, eight (8) units per 1000 pupils for registers in excess of 1000 to a maximum of 35 are provided for additional support services needed in larger regular high schools.

2. BASIC INSTRUCTION AND SUPERVISION

This segment provides the time for instruction as well as supervision. It combines the factors for register, average number of subjects per day per pupil, contractual class size maximums, average class size and supervision of instruction.

a. The factor, 1.05, provides coverage for the non-teaching time of assistant principals-supervision and is based on experience data.

b. The estimated register is the adjusted audited register estimated for the budget date (October 31 or March 31).

c. The weighted daily pupil load is each principal's estimate of the daily average number of subjects elected by the pupils for 1974-1975 programming weighted for contractual class size maximum. Each principal's original estimate was reviewed and, if necessary, adjusted according to experience. The weighting is based on the normal contractual maximum average class size of 34 and is computed as follows:

Maximum Class Size	Subject Area	Computation of Weighting Used	Weighted Load Factor (See note)
50	Physical Ed.	34 ÷ 50 = 0.68	0.68A
50	Minor Music	34 ÷ 50 = 0.68	0.68B
28	Trade Shop & Practical Arts	34 ÷ 28 = 1.22	1.22C
34	All Other Subjects	34 ÷ 34 = 1.00	1.00D

Weighted Load Factor = 0.68A + 0.68B + 1.22C + 1.00D

Note: The AVERAGE NUMBER of subjects per day per pupil for each subject area must be substituted for the letters A, B, C, and D.

d. The 1974-1975 average class size of 31.5 was determined by substituting in the formula the values of the following variables:

1) the total number of staff units available in the high school budget, 2) the city-wide high school register estimated for October 31, 1974, and 3) the calculated city-wide weighted daily pupil load, and then solving the equation for the average class size.

e. The average class size is multiplied by 5 to weight it for a normal 5 period day teaching load.

3. ALLOTMENT FOR EDUCATIONALLY HANDICAPPED PUPILS

This segment of the formula generates the staff units with which to provide for all remedial efforts (bilingual, reading, and mathematics). Each principal maintains sufficiently detailed records of the use of these staff units so that a separate report of their use can be prepared. This report accounts for the special New York State funding for the educationally handicapped which replaced State Urban Aid.

a. Bilingual handicap was measured by multiplying the estimated register by the October 1973 Language Difficulty Survey Category I and II percents. Apportioned budget capability then was divided by the target population to obtain the per capitas.

b. Reading retardation was used as the measure of educational handicap for other remediation efforts. To determine the target population, each high school prepared a report of pupils retarded two or more years in reading in February 1974 by examining pupil records for latest appropriate test scores. Where no scores were available, pupils were tested to determine their reading levels. For use in this formula the number of retarded readers is calculated by applying this percent to the estimated budget date register.

c. Programs for bilingual efforts must be developed in consultation with the Office of Bilingual Education.

d. Allocations previously provided for reduced class size, additional guidance services and remediation by tax-levy funding as well as categorical Urban Education funding are combined in this segment.

4. DISCRETE ALLOTMENTS FOR OPTIONAL PROGRAMS AND OTHER NEEDS

This segment provides for the allocation of staff units for specific high schools in consonance with the educational judgments of the high school principals and the assistant superintendents for optional and innovative programs. These include mini-schools, independent alternative high schools, special courses, etc.

Schools with an average number of subjects per day close to the maximum of seven (7) already provide alternative programs. Applications from other schools are submitted to their assistant superintendents for joint planning and approval.

Miscellaneous needs such as Pre-employment Programs, Machinist Helpers, Standing Committee Chairmen, UFT District Representatives, Annex Supplements, Extended Day Supplements, etc., also are covered by this segment.

Independent alternative high schools receive an allotment based upon one (1) staff unit for each sixteen (16) pupils. In consultation with the superintendent, this basic staff unit computation may be modified for the requirement of each school's alternative program.
